Allowing those who wish to sell their food and products at convenient locations and with consistency - not having to guess every month where a particular vendor is. As well - showing loyalty to those who have established businesses over the years.

Anonymous

9/18/2024 07:42 PM

It should be based upon community wide support i.e. if there is community support for a particular vendor being located in a particular location then that is what it should look like,

Anonymous

9/18/2024 08:08 PM

A vendor in one location for the season so that finding them doesn't become a search.

Vending at all popular sites across the Sunshine Coast. Specifically areas that don't offer quick grab and go options. It makes sense to have something savory and something sweet, as Davis Bay offered this year.

I think mobile vending should include tent setups as well. I am a new local small business selling freeze dried sweets. Yes, flea/farmer markets are nice but most are not year round, another option would be good, perhaps indoors.

I would love to see more mobile vendors everywhere. They should be at all events! Food Trucks will be the future of restaurant's due to expenses. We should open up and let roam more places. So we actually have more places to go to..

We've just returned from a visit to Halifax and were very impressed with the vibrancy of their harbour where there are many long term vendors, Adirondack chairs and picnic tables all the way along the harbour, It was so welcoming and vibrant - a real fun place to be and it attracts locals to the downtown as well as cruise ships and all manner of tourists.

Have more options of mobile vendors and more locations in Sechelt keeping in mind traffic patterns and points of congestion should be avoided.

Anonymous

9/18/2024 08:08 PM

I have not been impressed at all by the district's approach taken on this matter prior to this survey. It is a good first step at repairing what has been a farce. A petition signed by a large number of people was ignored, then a questionable policy supposedly established and then not followed - I notice that the same vendor has been at Friendship Park every time I have been there over the summer. If you are concerned about the appearance of favouring a specific vendor, go with the highest bidder for a particular location!

Let the mobile vendors stay where they want to sell their products Please do not offer bidding just like what happened to hot dog stand in Davis Bay ,EB's ice cream in Snickett and the thai food close to tim.horton's

Anonymous

9/19/2024 10:20 AM

Outside of asking residents, maybe survey mobile vending owners to see what they actually would like. One location, all season etc.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 10:34 AM

I personally love having a lot of food truck options around even if it was only temporary like once a week (like in farmers markets). Also events that have a lot of food trucks bring in a lot of people that could be good for local businesses.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 10:49 AM

Suggest making a map (web and mobile friendly) that shows exact vending locations. Then, can add links to the vendor's webpage/FB/IG etc so residents can review hours, menu etc. eg I did not know or see the mobile vendor at Kinnicknick as I always enter that park from Sandpiper/Heritage. Would have been helpful to include a list of all current locations and any under consideration. As well, may have been helpful to ask which location(s) respondents have purchased from. Depends on what your goals for the survey are. Can always do a follow up to refine/clarify direction DoS would like to go.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:06 AM

check out Langford music nights when many food trucks gather on the weekends and it's like a neighbourhood night out. Also is there an area where trucks could group together? Perhaps it's time to have a permanent market area where trucks/booths could be parked for the season and the farmers market could be there on say, Tuesdays and Saturdays. What do vendors pay for in rent/leases property taxes compared to sit down establishments, if I sold icecream would it be better to have an icecream cart or pay for an inside the mall space?

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:40 AM

Seating near a vendor is a must. Ensure sites are accessible for everyone.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:40 AM

Don't over complicate things. Set a guideline that all vendors must follow, Food Safe, Insurance, WCB etc, then let it work. Reg kitchen inspections is a must of course. Make it affordable for the vendors but, if their customer numbers are low then, replace them, no point having them there just taking up space.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:42 AM

Make it easier and quicker to get a licence and a space to park.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:44 AM

Anonymous

9/19/2024 11:57 AM

Why not try and make a mobile food location permanent. Look at box park croydon site it's a huge venue all of it food vendors it's a huge draw , it should be an attraction with atmosphere rather than carts all over the place that are quite unsightly ,choice like a foodhall all in one place would help each business. I personally would not go to Davis bay for a hot dog ever. But if I went to a large venue with options I might decide that's what I fancy that day. It would help them all. My goodness we need something in sechelt otherwise why would anyone go there?

ideally food trucks stay in the same place however it would also be nice to see events or even a weekly food truck meetup location where people can easily visit each one like a night market. Anonymous

9/19/2024 12:06 PM

I would love to see sechelt catch with the times and allow more Mobil vendors. Brick and mortar shops are exorbitantly expensive to run and I think those costs are keeping more people from opening new food business, and as a result, we are suffering a lack of diversity in our food choices. Many other communities are embracing Mobil vending, and are seeing how it improves the community as a whole. The district should be encouraging these small businesses and doing everything in their power to support them.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 12:09 PM

One area where several vendors could park would be ideal. Central for foot traffic/students and year round I feel would be used a lot

Anonymous

9/19/2024 12:12 PM

I would like to see vendors have more certainty about where they would be able to set up, with plenty of notice, and if possible, multi-year contracts. Some vendors, for example Eby's ice cream, became a tourist draw on its own, and they and other popular vendors have the ability to draw people to the downtown, where they will attract people to downtown shops.

Anonymous

Anonymous

They need to have more spots that they can go to in sechelt. Permits need to be less difficult to get. Sechelt is dying and needs some life drilled into it!

Anonymous

9/19/2024 12:46 PM

The mobile vending that is here is fantastic and I'd love to see more come to Sechelt! Generally I agree with using more public space for people to use, and this includes mobile vending pads. I love that in the summer time almost anywhere you walk you can find a spot to get a drink or a bite within about 10 minutes walking. I'd love to see more places set up over the next few years, and maybe extend the season outside of distinctly prohibitive weather.

Anonymous

It's nice to have the reliability of knowing you can go to the beach at davis bay and expect to find a certain type of vendor. Like if your intention is to go for dinner and there's only bubble tea, that's a bit of a let down. But if there was dinner and bonus bubble tea, that would be nice. If you want to take the kids for ice cream at friendship park and it's a taco truck today, oopsies. I love the idea of rentals for active transportation like bikes or paddle boards. I hate the idea of someone selling crap like cheap imported sunglasses, but occasional permits for an artisan selling their local handmade goods on a small scale could be nice.

I'm new to Gibsons and will often travel to sechelt to visit family & the area, but I haven't got a chance to check out the mobile vending options yet- so I don't have much feedback to offer. But would love to come check them out eventually!

I really preferred Davis Bay with the Hot Dog stand and his light hearted down to earth attitude with music playing in the summer months. He was greatly missed this summer. Characters like Samir are always a bright light in our community when offering the basics at a good deal for the people... it was a creative kind and welcoming environment but this past summer, very different with services contained inside trucks and not as passionate about what was being offered. Passion and commitment to the area and community matters.

There are many opportunities for creating additional mobile vending pads where the public like to travel through or to. I would initiate another survey where vendors and people of the public can suggest to the District of Sechelt.

Bringing more variety and giving vendors a consistent spot would increase sales and bring people together. Local music while u eat.

9/19/2024 03:32 PM

We do not need product vendors. More diverse food options. Some that stay year round and others that are seasonal.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 03:44 PM

variety would be great!

A fun mobile unit selling tourist things like buckets and spades, beach balls, beach candy and postcards etc on the beaches in summertime would be great for visiting families. I grew up with the pier culture in southern England and as kids we always loved our stick of rock, beach towels and sandcastle buckets from places like this.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 04:12 PM

I think it is a great idea to open up more mobile vendors but with the allowing to remain on their pad overnight, something needs to be put in place to protect them from the rampant crime downtown. Product rental is something that I never thought about but would be incredible for tourists in the summer. I think mobile vendors selling sunglasses or other non consumables could interfere with bringing customers downtown and exploring all of the shops there.

Food trucks are a very distinct way of allowing people to gather and at times meet new neighbours or friends that we may not ever meet. Food trucks are great way to experience a different area of a town or neighborhood.

Although I'd like to see year round vendors, probably a year round vendor in Hackett Park would not work. People go there in the summer for the shade or to watch events on stage. Davis Bay is year round because many walk there in the winter.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 05:28 PM

Thank you so much for this opportunity to participate. In my view mobile vendors, to stay afloat, need security - ie. knowing that they have a location they can count on. I think the week-to-week is too uncertain. EB ice cream was great by the kids' playground; the tea place is not as good a fit. A mobile vendor in Claytons parking lot would be great (maybe Claytons would like to do it themselves....). Thanks again.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 05:34 PM

I understand if vendors don't want move frequently but a change is nice. Would love to see hot beverages in December downtown

Anonymous

9/19/2024 05:38 PM

Mobile vendors should provide a service/product that is currently not offered in the local business district. Why should they be able to pop up with minimal costs and compete against year round businesses in the downtown area. Perhaps a radius of service to ensure they aren't directly competing with an established business.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 05:46 PM

The week to week alternating doesn't make sense, too hard to track down my favorite vendors if they have to move all the time. I think it makes it really hard on the business too. Why can't there be multiple vendors at Friendship Park and Davis Bay at the same time? As long as it's not the same type of vendor it should all be good. Mobile vending is a healthy way to encourage economic growth and new business in the district as a low cost, low barrier entry for start ups. Also the district should incentivize winter season vendors (for example, a hot chocolate & coffee bar at the playground in the winter is all the parents/kids dream!)

Anonymous

9/19/2024 06:09 PM

They need to provide or be adjacent to adequate receptacles for recyclables, trash, compost etc and to use low impact containers as possible. Be encouraged to minimize waste by not providing lids, etc unless requested.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 06:12 PM

Bathrooms and water are helpful where there a trucks. Lots of garbage so having the truck owner manage garbage and recycling (recyclable and compostable packaging) is important to me. Not close to residential areas where traffic can be a bother

Anonymous

9/19/2024 06:18 PM

Commercial leases in Sechelt are a significant barrier to many small businesses. Our many empty storefronts are such an eyesore to the town and landlords should be fined for having empty stores. More flexible mobile vending options would help small businesses grow to the point that they could eventually take on a lease. But most vendors I know are barely squeaking out a liveable wage let alone enough money to cover a lease, utilities, insurance and hourly staff.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 06:19 PM

If located in the appropriate area, i.e. Paddle boards, rentals for water activities, then they should be at the beach/waterfront. Put carts where their services would be utilized

Anonymous

9/19/2024 06:36 PM

I find rotating businesses does not make any sense. I love ice cream truck next to the sechelt floating platform and now when it moves I never visited it because of the location. We want reliable places to eat or take out and rotation is not helpful when you have to find out where your vendor is..

Anonymous

9/19/2024 07:02 PM

If Hackett park was set up the vendor would have to advertise heavy as the others are available on main roads so there is brand recognition

Anonymous

9/19/2024 07:08 PM

Having the Davis bay vendor rotate weekly is a bad deal for the vendor, it's a tough haul to make it full time. Weekly rotation removes consistency and puts the vendor in a tough position to maintain staff and find work elsewhere on the off week. Imagine if Sechelt split the work week for staff to favour having more employee's. How tough would it be to get employee's?

Anonymous

9/19/2024 08:10 PM

Please support these local small business persons. Any input they give should supercede any opinions I have given - whatever they want and need should be the priority.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 08:13 PM

Take a look at Sisters Oregon for ideas. It is a tourist dependent community and they have 2 different areas where they have 5-6 food trucks around a common seating area with picnic table. They also had a small stage for small concerts and a play area for kids. it was VERY well utilized and was a staple activity in the community and for people to gather and eat and socialize. Kept their downtown core very upbeat and had people walking around. It would really help out many of the stores in the community if there were more people walking around during the day and early evening especially in the summer.

Anonymous

9/19/2024 09:49 PM

In my opinion, having a mobile vendor move every week, let alone every day, will not attract them to operate one in Sechelt. This is counter-productive, physically and financially difficult as setting up for one operational day is not easy. This is not a 2-piece check-in luggage that you pack up and carry around! Ask your selves in your office if they have seen and worked with an actual mobile vendor to even remotely consider this absurd idea.

Why not have a multi food truck event one night a week during spring to fall. Make it an event.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 04:56 AM

There's not enough business volume to support year long vending on the coast. This is best addressed in the form of pop up events over long weekends and causes for events. Something like what the Gibsons public market does with the night market would be welcome on the other side. Hackett Park vending would be a great initiative as the park has decent traffic that can improve if food & drinks are offered.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 05:45 AM

It seems unreasonable to ask vendors to constantly move. That would be expensive, impact equipment and make it hard to find your favourites.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 05:45 AM

You can't ask business to set up in a location on a part time basis.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 05:48 AM

If vendors want to open year round they should be able to. Yes sales may be slower but people still enjoy outings in the winter months. The town doesn't have to shut down in winter. In general, it would be nice to see more restaurants/food vendors open on Sundays as well.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 06:29 AM

Benches should not be moved in Davis bay for vending.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 06:33 AM

Let applicants know early enough so they can prepare for the season. And maybe allow 2 year licenses, if the vendor has a proven record. Great to see the Mexican food truck and ice cream vendor at Davis bay all summer. Great collaboration and not rotating. Thanks for that!

Anonymous

9/20/2024 08:39 AM

Mobile vending are great at there current locations ,I don't feel they should be competing with existing local restaurants or coffee shops in the downtown core. Or located in residential areas.

Anonymous

Either permanent or temp options at local places would be fun - like the West Sechelt corner store, Brookman Park, Snickett Pk

Anonymous

Halfmoon Bay needs food trucks! We don't have any restaurants, so it would be great if food trucks got opportunity to be present, strategically placed to serve residents and tourists year round.

Street food needs to be affordable. Taking a family of four out to eat

9/20/2024 11:51 AM

fish and chips or basic street food sitting outside with no service should be vastly cheaper than sitting in a licensed restaurant. Help the vendors achieve a reasonable price point.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 12:42 PM

I would be excited about walking the seafront and being able to grab some chips off a cart. The ice cream vendor is great. A grilled cheese truck would be fun. These would appeal to residents and tourists.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 03:30 PM

Not too impressed with the "Tea" vendor at Friendship park - never knew if they were going to open or not and they seemed to be taking the spot away from someone who would be open all the time, i.e., like the Icecream Vendor.

Once it's running facebook page to tell us who's where when. This could be a great fun idea. I'm not always able to take time and the money for a full lunch out but knowing where I could grab a good "to go" while on my errands would be fun!

Anonymous

9/20/2024 06:29 PM

As a small business owner myself, I have listened to conversations about the time and cost and hassle it is for these small business to have to pack up and move constantly. Also, like in the case of the ice cream lady in Sechelt...she was set up down by the pier...had established her regulars, and then it was our impression through other conversations that she had to share the space with a different ice cream vendor. This, after she established the clientele seemed unfair. She had to then start basically a new business elsewhere while the second business was able to simply benefit from the first business' hard work. This may have not been the case. If it was it seemed wrong.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 06:42 PM

what ever is proposed, It needs to be consistent for the vendor. If proven to be successful, the business needs a multiyear contract in the location of vendor space

Anonymous

Make it easy for vendors to do business in Sechelt. And extend business hours into the evening.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 08:30 PM

Food truck serving indigenous food would be a big hit, especially with tourists in the summer, I think. Who doesn't like bannock? Good way for us to learn about this culture that is part of our home.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 09:48 PM

Provide electrical connection at each site so the use of gas generators are unnecessary. If the vendor plays music it should only loud enough to hear while standing in front of the vendor. Flags, banners and signs yes. A picnic table and garbage can would be good too.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 10:05 PM

I think mobile food vending is great option for Sechelt. I've enjoyed all the current vendors this year. They bring vibrancy, affordable and diverse options and offer a more affordable venue to food businesses. I think the main things to deter in leases with vendors are noise and undesirable light pollution. All current vendors have been respectful of these two things. I think also leasing placements that are not in too much direct competition with restaurants (eg offering similar food) so as to help create draw and buzz to areas but not "poach" customers away from establishments.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 10:19 PM

Having the same vendor in the same place makes it a lot easier to plan when deciding where to get takeout. Most vendors don't keep their websites up to date, so it's hard to find them if they move around and they miss out on business.

Anonymous

9/20/2024 11:16 PM

Work with the dance studio, soccer team, hockey team etc schedules. Most classes are 45 mins - 90 minutes long. During this time parents can either drive home or "hang out" until the class is over. The only reason I'd go to Hackett park is because of soccer games to watch my son play

Anonymous

9/20/2024 11:22 PM

Hackett park allows non profits to set up concessions and a mobile vendor set up all summer would be detrimental. Also, a mobile vendor would be taking business away from food businesses that invest a lot of money to operate their food enterprise.

Mobile food trucks should be at Hackett Park for any organized event ... baseball, soccer, music etc. ... could encourage more community engagement

Why is time and money being put into this concept when we should be supporting businesses that are already open year round and pay rent! I was a cafe owner and if I had something like this in my area I would be frustrated and feel unsupported

Anonymous

9/21/2024 04:56 PM

Asking vendors to swap out of locations weekly, biweekly or monthly is a terrible idea. Very hard to staff for changing customer volumes, more food wastage, people can't find their favourite vendors easily. Putting in very specialized things like bubble tea and removing a vendor who has created a draw to the waterfront and is basically an anchor was a bad decision. A bubble tea truck would work better in a pod of mobile vendors. Vendors should know where they are going to be in the next year's season by November of the previous year for business planning and financial stability. DOS has killed a number of good businesses by delaying and often changing things last minute.

Why bring in more competition for our local businesses??

Anonymous

10/03/2024 01:24 AM

I think it's better for residents and the business if a business stays in one spot for the duration of a season. That way the business can make their space more attractive and comfortable for us customers than they would be able to if they had to move all the time. Also, then us customer always know where we can find them. Moving businesses around is just confusing for us customers and it also generates more greenhouse gas emissions as the business owners tow their shop from place to place, which is a really bad outcome.

I am happy the District is taking stock of the public's ideas and attitudes toward this subject. The current bylaw, largely written in the years past, does not accurately present the attitudes and ideas of present day. There are multiple ways this subject may become reality under the current conditions. However I hope a new bylaw, and subsequent enactment of that bylaw, may help bring about varied and innovative vendors to Sechelt and the Sunshine Coast. The public deserves consistent service, reliable products and respectful engagement. Also the bylaw would be best to encourage fledgling vendors and reward tested, established vendors. Much more can said about this subject as is it is nuanced, but, for now, thank you. You are free to contact me for further discussion. Respectfully, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Thank you for looking into different options. There are so many things that our communities could do to make them more friendly for tourists and those that live here full time. We have so many things to learn from other communities that have a high tourist traffic. We need to embrace them. EB's ice cream did so much better this summer with the change of location, it was great to see people hanging out in that area all summer. It made the community seem friendlier and more vibrant
